Supply Chain's India Operations Back to Near-Normal Now, Says CEO

Anirban Chowdhury @timesgroup.com

Mumbai: DHL Supply Chain has resumed almost its entire operations in India, after they were stalled during the lockdown, and expects to get back to positive growth in volumes next year, its global CEO said in an interview.

"Ninety-nine percent of our operations are running in India," Oscar de Bok told ET. He acknowledged that there had been a setback, as in all other countries, and that volumes are lower but added that DHL Supply Chain continues to invest in new facilities in India.

He said the recent Sino-Indian tensions haven't affected supply chain operations, although it remains to be seen whether they escalate. The

There will be more clarity on the impact of Covid-19 as well as decisions on further investments in India by October-November company is part of Deutsche Post DHL, one of the biggest logistics groups in the world. De Bok said India is currently "in the middle" of the pandemic and that there, as parallels in the Latin American markets. There will be more clarity on the impact of Covid-19 as well as decisions on further investments in India by October-November.

He added that the pandemic has taught several lessons to logistics companies, mainly the need for more flexibility in supply chains. De Bok said innovation in more efficient warehouse management has been accelerated to effectively shift between B2B and B2C modes. Separately, he cited technology clients who had to change supply points from one continent to the other with their logistics and supply chain in partners in tow. De Bok said DHL Supply Chain is driving a "collaborative agenda in robotics."

DHL Supply Chain plans to focus on more process automation by supporting robotics for more smart operations in its warehouses across the world, the company said in a presentation on June 10.

Employees will begin wearing devices like smartphones and to keep a safe distance while communicating with other employees. De Bok said all employees will be on the new mode of smart operations by next year.

Liquor Cos are Beginning to Come Back Slowly...We Can Feed Demand

ANAND KRIPALU
MD, United Spirits

We have to be just cautious. And at most, you can plan 1 month at a time, not even 1qtr

Mumbai: United Spirits, India's biggest alcoholic beverages company, said spirits makers were now taking baby steps toward restoring normal operations, implying it was too early to predict a total-revival timeline for an industry otherwise considered resilient against economic shocks.

"We have to be just cautious. And at most, you can plan one month at a time, not even one quarter," Anand Kripalu, managing director at Diageo-owned USL, told ET. "So, to hazard a guess on normality is hard, but businesses are beginning to come back slowly but surely... We are in a position to feed demand. Many state governments that lost revenue during the lockdown tried to offset revenue loss with a tax increase after the Centre allowed liquor shops to open in the first week of May. At present, two-thirds of the retail outlets have re-opened and initially there were long customer queues. Still, sales volumes fell due to the high taxes on liquor. In India, several state governments control liquor retailing or wholesale distribution or both and thus form a major source of their revenue. More than 50% of the revenue of liquor goes to the state governments by way of excise duty.

"The company that owns McEwell's and Black Dog brands said tax increases need to be tempered for a sustainable model of consistent revenue growth for the government. "It would a very sharp short-term pricing, then there's a negative impact of volumes and if volumes don't grow then in the subsequent period, revenue will not grow," Kripalu said.

USL said there is also increasing consumer preference for spirits since beer is bulkier to transport. "Let's see whether it will sustain when pubs and bars open, when more stores are able to open, counter sales, rather than only home delivery sales," said Kripalu.

Big Realty Investors may Move to Logistics, Data Centre

Kallash Babar @timesgroup.com

Mumbai: With the Covid-19 crisis wreaking havoc in the real estate market, institutional investors in the sector are expected to pivot towards defensive assets such as warehousing, logistics and data centres, slightly away from their previous choice of only office projects.

PE and institutional investors are eyeing thematic opportunities in the residential property segment, but most of these will be strategic buys and long-term investments, experts said.

While office properties will attract new investments, the pace may not be in line with the numbers recorded in the last few years as warehousing and data centres are expected to emerge as investors' preferred assets in the post-Covid era.

The shift in preference is being driven by key changes like the work-from-home model and a rise in e-commerce activity.

"Both logistics and data centres will be preferred as these real estate asset classes are looking more attractive with great potential compared to the office market that will face short-term headwinds. These are new opportunities with massive growth possibilities," Anshul Jain, managing director at investment manager Sunil Rohokale said.

"The current and post-Covid-19 situation will give rise to new preferences for other investable asset classes, including logistics and data centres. India will continue to attract capital and these sectors are also expected to receive active interests and investments," said Anshul Jain, Cushman & Wakefield's MD - India and Southeast Asia.

Blackstone Sells 8.7% in Embassy REIT for $300m

Kallash Babar @timesgroup.com

Mumbai: The Blackstone Group raised over $300 million (₹2,270 crore) by selling an 8.7% stake in Embassy Office Parks REIT through block deals.

About 14 investors, including domestic and global funds such as CI Investments, Capital Group and Nomura Asset Management, picked up the US private equity firm's stake in Embassy Office Parks REIT through the deals on Wednesday. A Canadian hedge fund is also among the new entities that bought the stake.

"The deal was upsized given the demand for units worth $50 million. The fund earlier planned to raise about $250 million through this transaction," said one person familiar with the deal. The transaction took place at ₹341 per unit, while the scrip was at ₹356.27 at the end of the trading session.

"We continue to be big believers in India and its potential. We have significant confidence in the office sector and Embassy REIT, given growing demand from domestic and global companies for Indian talent, particularly in technology hubs like Bangalore," said Jonathan Gray, chief operating officer, Blackstone. "This transaction helps diversify institutional ownership and improve liquidity. We remain the largest shareholder of Embassy REIT and are quite optimistic about its future."

Following the partial stake sale, Blackstone will hold a 46.3% stake in Embassy Office Parks REIT.

Kindly note that the said dividend, if declared by the shareholders, will be paid within 30 days from the date of its declaration at the ensuing Annual General Meeting, to those Members whose name appears in the Register of Members / SENPOCS as at the close of working hours on Saturday, July 04, 2020.

Clear Files of Stalled Bldg Proposals: BJP MP to BMC

Mumbai: A BJP MP has urged the civic body of Greater Mumbai to start processing files of stalled building proposals in suburban Mumbai and the island city.

More than 135 files have been awaiting clearance since the end of March, when the lockdown was announced, BJP MP Gopal Shetty said in a letter addressed to Jugal Chahal, commissioner of the Municipal Corporation of Greater Mumbai. Most of these proposals pertain to redevelopment projects that have come to a standstill, impacting the lives of tenants.

"The projects have been held back for minor technical objections and the civic authority stands to gain a significant amount of revenue once the projects are cleared.

"I am not blaming or complaining at this point of time. I am only pointing out the real situation so that the commissioner can look into the matter by clearing the files which will fetch BMC revenue of about ₹50 crore in due course," Shetty said in his letter.
